
The career network e-fellows.net awards undergraduate, graduate and postgraduate students the e-fellows.net scholarship

Scholarship holders achieve outstanding results in their studies and internships (domestic and abroad) as well as in their extracurricular activities.

They benefit from excellent networking opportunities and career services, such as exclusive internship and job offers from top companies, or mentoring programs. Further benefits include access to subject-specific research databases and free newspaper/journal subscriptions.

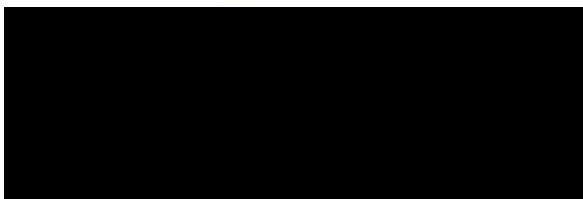

The scholarship is awarded for one year and can be extended until the end of the scholar's graduate or postgraduate studies.

We hereby confirm that

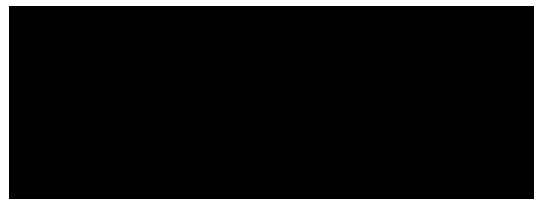

Fabian Hollwitz

was awarded the e-fellows.net scholarship in March 2014. The scholarship was extended on the 27/03/2014.
